No. 50.

A DEMOCRATIC VIEW OF THE GOEBEL TICKET.

This is the first convention which has met in Kentucky to nominate a State ticket since the division of the party; and it furnishes an object lesson of the character, value and influence of those Democrats who felt it their duty to stand by the old faith and maintain the ancient principles of the Democratic party. The State and the party can look upon this convention as some evidence of the capacity of the leaders to govern with decency, with good temper and submission to law; of the loss or gain of the party by the exclusion of the sound money Democrats from the councils of the party. This convention during the Senatorial election are of the same character; the same violence, the same disregard for the rights of others, the same open contempt for law and order. For four days Mr. Goebel sat in the chair of the Senate and violated every rule of parliamentary law, ever dictate of honesty, and defied the law and the rights of the fellow Senators. For six days Judge Redwine has copied the conduct of Mr. Goebel. Mr. Bronston was then the ally of Mr. Goebel; now he is one of the victims of this system of using power unlawfully, of trampling upon the rights of others. Mr. Goebel is rewarded by a nomination for Governor; the reward of Judge Redwine is in the womb of the future.

The nomination of Mr. Goebel was not unexpected by the State and the closeness of the vote by which he was declared the nominee demonstrates the fact that he was rejected by the Democratic party at the primaries. He receives the declaration of nomination by stolen votes—votes deliberately flayed by the Committee of Credentials and seated by the combination between him and poor Stone. If the delegates actually sent to the convention had been permitted to vote he would have been defeated. He is therefore not the nominee of the Democratic party; his nomination is not binding on any honest Democrat; his title to the nomination is precisely the title a horse thief has to a stolen horse. We put this simply because on this point there can be neither doubt, confusion nor uncertainty. And this will be pointed out with absolute clearness as the canvass progresses. Democrats may vote for Mr. Goebel in preference to the nominee of the Republican party, or because they do not know what other course to pursue; but no Democrat can vote for him under the excuse that he is the regular nominee of the party.

The platform is in no sense Democratic—it is pure Goebelian; and no Democrat is under any obligations to support that platform. We do not mean to say that Mr. Goebel believes in the principles enunciated. Mr. Goebel was a sound money man; a follower of Carlisle, Cleveland and that school of Democrats. He was elected to the Senate as such; in 1895 and in 1896, until after the primaries in Kentucky, he was supposed to be a sound money Democrat. What are his present views we do not pretend to know. But in State matters the platform commits the party to measures which are anti-Democratic and it adopted would be ruinous to the State. This platform was the fruit of the conspiracy between Goebel and Stone, and did not represent the opinions of the convention, and we do not believe that one-third of the Democrats of Kentucky endorse those measures. At the primaries

WOMEN IN TROUBLE.

The Approach of Motherhood is the Occasion of Much Anxiety to All. Every woman dreads the ordeal through which she must pass in becoming a mother. The pain and suffering which is in store for her is a source of constant anxiety, fear and dread, to say nothing of the danger which the coming incident entails. The joyous anticipations with which she looks forward to baby's coming give way to an indescribable dread of the ordeal when she fully realizes the critical and trying event which will soon approach and have to be endured. Women should hail with delight a remedy which insures to them immunity from the pain, suffering and danger incidental to child-bearing. Such a remedy is now offered, and women need not fear longer the hour of childbirth. "Mother's Friend" is a scientific liniment—and if used before confinement, gently and surely prepares the body for the great requirements and changes it is undergoing, insures safety to both mother and child, and takes her through the event with comparative ease and comfort. This wonderful remedy is praised by every woman who has used it. What woman is not interested in "Mother's Friend"? This wonderful remedy has been tested and its priceless value proven by the experience of thousands of happy mothers who have used it during the most critical period of woman's life—the approach and culmination of motherhood. It has won their everlasting praise, for it gave them help and hope in their most trying hour and when most needed. Every woman may some day need "Mother's Friend." The little book "Before Baby is Born," telling all about it, and when it should be used, will prove of great interest and benefit to all expectant mothers, and will be sent free to any address upon application to the Bradford Regulator Company, Atlanta, Ga.

FROM A STONE MANAGER.

Georgetown, June 30.—To the Dispatch: Will you kindly allow me the use of your columns for an explanation to my personal friends. They know that for months I was the earnest advocate of the claims of Capt. Stone for the Democratic nomination for Governor; that I went to the Louisville convention to serve his interests and that before that convention ended I was working in Gen. Hardin's behalf. Prizing above all things the respect of my friends, I want them to know the reasons that controlled me. When I reached Louisville I was informed by Capt. Stone that he had made a combination with Mr. Goebel. I asked him the extent of the combination and was informed that it was to organize the convention and that wherever there was a contest the Hardin delegates were to be turned out of the convention.

The statement that two men seeking the high office of Governor of a once justly proud commonwealth had deliberately entered into such a compact to deprive the people of their representation was so astounding that I could scarcely credit the information. My first impression was to inform Capt. Stone that I could no longer be his friend, but a moment's reflection convinced me that it would be better to wait and see if their compact could not be broken. I labored incessantly to that end, and on Thursday night at midnight had the pleasure of seeing Capt. Stone get into a carriage and drive to the Galt house to notify Mr. Goebel that his (Stone's) friends would not sustain such an agreement and that their contract was at an end.

This condition of affairs continued until 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, when Capt. Stone went to the convention hall where the committee on credentials was in session. I was talking with Capt. Stone when some one approached and told him Mr. Goebel wanted to see him. He left me and went to where Mr. Goebel was standing in the dark under the stairway. Five minutes later he returned and said: "Mr. Goebel says that if I will carry out our original agreement he will nominate me in the morning. Can I afford to refuse the nomination?" I immediately told him that if he purchased the nomination at such a price the people ought to beat him at the polls by 50,000 majority. I said to him also, if Mr. Goebel has made such a promise he has no idea of keeping it; he is only endeavoring to get you to tie your hands this afternoon that he may cut your throat in the morning. Stone replied: "I can't believe that he is so unscrupulous as that." Then I said, tie your hands now and be convinced to-morrow. It is needless to say that he was thoroughly convinced before the next morning had gone by, but it was too late—he was in Mr. Goebel's power, who simply laughed at him for his credulity.

When Capt. Stone informed me that he would carry out his agreement with Goebel, I notified him that our relations were at an end. That agreement was carried out by the combined votes of Stone and Goebel, every contest was decided in their favor except two where the steal was so palpable and outrageous that some of their own forces revolted them to forego their purpose. More than 150 delegates opposed to Goebel were turned out of the convention or refused admission because of this agreement, and their places filled with men, most of whom were ready to do his bidding. The combination put in the chair a man who was willing to do anything his master told him, who would submit to the opposition, allow no appeal from any decision, and surrounded by long lines of uniformed policemen while as many more of the tools of the city administration in citizens' clothing filled the hall, ready to obey Goebel's, throttled the convention and forced it either to nominate Goebel or stay there all summer. In my judgment from the moment they secured the permanent organization and had the entire police of Louisville placed at their command, no other result was possible, no other nomination would ever have been allowed or announced.

When the convention adjourned it was found that Goebel had placed at the head of your State Central Committee one of the chief actors in a bloody mountain feud that disgraced our State and crimsoned the soil of Rowan county with the blood of her citizens. Can any one doubt Goebel's purpose to inaugurate a reign of terror in the State and make every Democrat his abject slave? Kentucky is on trial. What will she do about it? We boast much of our manhood and our honor and look down on our colder blooded brethren of the north with the idea that they care more for business than for such things. Will we be able to compare favorably with them after the November election? A few years ago when New York was a close and doubtful State, a Republican candidate secured the nomination for Governor by fraudulent agencies, but which in comparison with the method used pursued in our late convention were highly honorable. The people of that State beat him by 200,000 majority. Will our people display as high a sense of honor? Of course most of those who seek office will cry out to stand by the nominee, no matter how the nomination was secured, but surely the people who only do the voting and who do not want or expect office, will not consent to this great crime against manhood and free government.

We have fallen upon perilous times indeed. The Courier-Journal, long cherished by many as the representative of our southern honor, lured by the hope of the public printing and other patronage that will come to it through Goebel's triumph, has become the avowed champion of fraud, force and duplicity, while it holds its peculiar champion before the young men of Kentucky as an example for them to imitate. God help the state if our young men yield to such infamous advice and consent to follow such an example.

As a citizen and a Democrat I shall not be deterred by the boast of the machine men that they will steal the election, no matter how the people vote. I never scratched a Democratic ticket in my life, never voted for a Republican, but I realize that if the Democratic party does not hold in its ranks sufficient honest vitality to punish and rebuke this great wrong and save the State from the threatened danger, it ought to perish. To help rebuke that wrong and save for the future our party I intend to vote for the Republican candidate for Governor this fall, and I appeal to the conservative, the intelligent and the honest manhood of our State to do the same and make the majority too big to steal, and by perfect organization make it dangerous to attempt to steal it.

Yours,
W. C. OWENS.

The Hawaiian Islands.

They are twelve in number, and have a total area of 6,677 sq. miles. They are 3,500 miles west of Mexico and 2,700 miles southwest of San Francisco. Hawaii is the largest with an area of 4,000 sq. mi., Kanai 640, and Oahu 500. All the islands are of volcanic origin and Hawaii has two active volcanoes. The entire group is mountainous.

The Hawaiian Islands were discovered by Gaetano, a Spaniard, in 1522. Capt. Cook visited the island in 1778 and again in 1779 when he was killed. Since Cook's visit the population has greatly decreased. Cook estimated a population of 400,000. In 1832 the first census was taken making the number 120,313. In 1890 the population was 89,990; the native numbered 34,426; Chinese, 15,301; Japanese, 12,360; Portuguese, 8,602; U. S., 9,128. The remainder were natives of other nations or of mixed origin.

Climate, effected by locality. The average temperature at Honolulu being about 75 degrees. Rainfall variable. Soil fertile and well adapted to agriculture. Sugar is the chief product. Wool, tallow, hides, rice and bananas are exported.

The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of Remedy for Lyncing.

The Rev. Charles H. Beale Says It is Education Alone.

In the Immanuel Congregational Church, Roxbury, Sunday morning, the Rev. C. H. Beale, D. D., preached on "The Remedy for Lyncing." Beneath every man, said he, is the barbarian, and beneath the barbarian is the brute. The civilized man seeks revenge, the brute seeks blood and the demon seeks cruelty. Indignation and revenge are the work of the individual man, and blood and cruelty the work of the mob.

To remedy these outrages we should suppress these individuals who are incapable of self-control. We should abolish the tramp law. Because of no work men tramp about. Society must find something for them to do. Every man should be at work. He should be compelled to work. The prison system must be made better. We have made great progress in this direction in the North, but there is need of improvement generally.

The only remedy is for the North and South to work together in moral and intellectual education. Let us be practical. We Northern people should lay foundations that are good and strong for the uplifting of the black man.

ALL HAPPY IN THE END.

"Now, my dear Franz, let us get back to the old subject, the lovely Gretchen. It has become plain to me you do not love her any more than your pipe."

"That is considerable," said Franz. "Yes, but it won't do. Now, let us talk as man to man. You love her but for the sake of money she will bring you, which would be $1,000, with which you would set yourself up in the turning business. Her father favors you and dislikes me. Now, as money is the idea, I will give you, hard cash in hand, $1,500 to take yourself out of the way."

Now it happened, is frequently the case, that the fair Gretchen liked the better looking man of the two, despite his spice of gayety. Her father, however, was so dead set against him that it was impossible for him to visit her openly, and so the two had recourse to stratagem.

They met in the dead of night out of the sound of the snoring of her honorable father. She was shocked at the ease with which Franz let her go, and after pondering upon it, she became afraid that there was some little force in the transaction, and sure enough, three days afterward, during which her father had growled at the non-appearance of the lover, she started her friend Carl by whispering in his ear that she was sure both she and her father were to remove from the city, as she had witnessed many strange movements which could not be accounted for in any other way.

"Hum, hum," thought that shrewd young man, "this will not do. Try to bewail Franz for a day or two, and perhaps your father will tell you."

It worked well. The father was at first a trifle suspicious, but being finally convinced by his fair daughter's prolonged misery, whispered this in her ear:

"Don't be alarmed, my love. I am glad you are awaking to the merits of this estimable young man. He is not far off, only a hundred miles or so, and we will go to him. It is necessary that he should be hid for the present, on account of the vengeance of some rascals whom he ruined, but he can not get on without you, and you may marry the dear boy as soon as you choose; and, to tell the truth, we have arranged to have the ceremony performed at the third station from this city by a friend of mine, who will get aboard the train at that point, so that when you arrive home you will be his wife. We shall travel in one of the new-fangled cars, so that we may have a compartment, all to ourselves, and in peace."

Carl stared at this new evidence of the fallibility of mankind.

"He tried to cheat me out of my $1,500, did he? Well, then, we'll see if we can't do some cheating on our own account."

The time came; the goods and chattels of the tobacco merchant were packed, and in the darkness of the night he smoked his parting pipe, sitting on a corded box containing his wardrobe, while Gretchen, pale and shivering, sat beside him, holding her satchel and looking anxiously at her forefinger, on which as yet no ring had appeared.

Meanwhile, strange things were going on at a few miles out of town. The virtuous Franz walked out of his lodgings and proceeded to the depot, chuckling. He was in his normal condition, half intoxicated.

At a dark part of the way he was jumped upon by a strong fellow, who took him up bodily and carried him to a stable in the rear of some buildings, preventing him from crying as he went. Carl took some leather straps from a harness and bound up the fellow very tight, and bandaged his mouth.

"Now we are likely to be even. You shall stay where you are until somebody finds you in the morning and I shall go and marry your intended wife. It was all found out, and I have half a mind to thrash you on the spot. It was a mean trick you attempted to play—internally mean—but we shall be even, my lad."

An hour later a train steamed into the station, and a man, with Franz's drunken gait, his cloak and cap, staggered into the rear compartment, where was the tobaccoist and his daughter and the minister.

It was necessary that the work should be done quickly, as the minister must get out at the next station. So they stood up, and in a few moments it was completed.

The minister and the train came to the station.

Carl and his wife are here. "But you are not going to get out here, Franz," said the father.

"Yes," replied Carl, "as well here as anywhere."

All alighted. They went to the brilliantly lighted saloon. Carl took off his hat.

It blew over. All things blow over, Franz got $15 damages for bruised ankles and hurt spirit, but all are now happy in the extreme.—New York Daily News.

Democracy's New Organ.

We congratulate the Goebelles on their acquisition of two papers, both daily. Bill Haldeman has at last forced Henry Watterson to recognize him as the controlling force in the Courier-Journal, and has carried it into the Goebel camp. In our opinion it will stay there only until the defeat of Goebel, when Haldeman and Watterson can resume their financial connection with sound money Democracy.

They have betrayed every party and every leader that ever trusted them. The Courier-Journal preached and betrayed free silver. It praised and betrayed Cleveland. It flattered and wrecked Carlisle. It insisted on Hindman's nomination, and then deserted him. In its news columns it gave Goebel all the assistance it could command, and to increase that service Watterson denounced the Goebel election law in unmeasured terms. Now it hails Goebel as a veritable Moses, who is to lead the national organization out of the wilderness into the promised land.

It is a miserable story throughout of greed and professional debauchery, and a most humiliating spectacle: Watterson writing under orders from Bill Haldeman and no longer master of the journal. Here is an article on this situation from the Lexington Herald, which simply expresses the views of the press of Kentucky:

"The first province of a newspaper is to print the truth, uncolored by bias or partisanship. The Louisville Courier-Journal and the Louisville Times, both owned by the Haldemans, color every report to favor Goebel. As newspapers they have proven themselves false and untrustworthy, however successful they may be as organs of Mr. Goebel and defenders of Judge Redwine."

"Though every report in the news columns of both the Courier-Journal and the Times has been colored to aid Mr. Goebel, there has not been a line in the editorial columns of the former in regard to the convention in Louisville. The Courier was once a great paper, it had opinions and dared express them; its editorials gave it reputation and prestige. Now it seems that its editors are mere puppets who dance or keep silent as young Will Haldeman directs. It left the Bryan Democracy and supported Palmer and Buckner; it professed to support Capt. Hindman, and on the eve of election day deserted him and the vote which had believed in it; it is now engaged in a disgraceful and disreputable attempt to force Mr. Goebel upon the Democratic party, and through its news columns falsifies the daily reports of actual happenings."

We doubt if the latest "flop" will re-establish the Courier-Journal in the confidence of any faction of the party. It is too well known and too thoroughly hated. Goebel has no personal following; he is a mere slave driver, and the Courier-Journal will find that he can not restore its lost subscribers. Goebelianism may triumph for a season, but the Courier-Journal is doomed for its own unpardonable sins.—Post.

If the man who worries will only peep over the fence he will see others with burdens far heavier to bear. Most every fellow thinks his load the heavier, but take a look at the other poor devils striving to eek out an existence and you will change your mind. Next time you think you are having the hardest time which ever befell mortal man, peep in at the country newspaper man and you will conclude at once that you are in clover.

FRIDAY, JULY 7.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR STATE SENATOR,
CAPT. N. T. HOWARD.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
HON. B. C. JARRAGIN.

FOR MAGISTRATE,
S. S. FITZHUGH.

FOR CONSTABLE,
JEROME ALLEN.

CAPT. JOHN KEOWN makes an ideal convention chairman.

The probability of another Democratic convention to nominate a candidate for Governor is being seriously considered.

J. S. R. WEDDING, R. C. JARRAGIN, Fred Long and C. M. Barnett made splendid speeches before the convention here Monday.

The unusual attendance at the convention here Monday attests the popular resentment of Goebelsm and the determination of the people to turn it down in November.

The Courier-Journal says the "real issue" is the "Democratic party vs. the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co." If the case is properly stated we move for peremptory instructions for the defendant.

The money question will be a small factor in the State campaign this year.
Kentuckians can ill-afford to talk silver and gold while the Goebel oligarchy threatens to destroy self-government in the State.

GEN. W. S. TAYLOR has now more than 1,000 instructed votes out of a total of 1,700 and nearly forty counties are yet to hold conventions. No other name will be likely to go before the Lexington convention.

MR. JEROME ALLEN, of Sulphur Springs precinct, was nominated for Constable of the Hartford Magisterial district by the Republican convention here Monday. Mr. Allen will be elected and will make a splendid officer.

"I WILL BE FIFTY DOLLARS that Goebel runs 5,000 votes behind the rest of the ticket, and then I'll bet fifty dollars that he is elected, for if he is elected 50,000 votes he will steal the election."—Commonwealth's Attorney J. Edwin Rowe.

MR. G. S. FITZHUGH was nominated for Magistrate for the Hartford district by the convention here Monday.
Mr. Fitzhugh's natural ability, superior education and practical experience in business will make him a valuable member of our Fiscal court.

The convention here Monday was the largest ever held in the county and the absolute harmony that prevailed was a briar in the heel of each of a score or two of Democrats who came in to see a "scrap." Goebelsm unites the Republican forces as solid as a rock in mid-ocean.

A DISTINGUISHED Democratic lawyer from a neighboring county joined in a discussion of Goebelsm on the street here a few days ago and very frankly said: "I know very well that Goebel stole the nomination, but I am going to vote for him and believe he will steal the election if he finds it necessary to do so."

The Courier-Journal's double column editorial whooping it up for Goebel just after the Louisville convention set the Louisville Goebels here yelling for that paper, but since the Courier-Journal has resumed its former policy of denouncing the sixteen-to-one-or-bust business, the local silverites are wondering what is the matter with Waterson, anyhow.

CAPT DREYFUS, the famous French military prisoner, will now be given a new trial, which means his restoration to liberty. Capt. Dreyfus was sentenced to life imprisonment on Devil's Island on a charge of telling French military secrets to a German military officer. The world believes Dreyfus innocent, and that he is a victim of anti Hebrew hatred of the French army officers.

The Bath County World, one of the best edited free silver papers in Kentucky, makes the following very sensible comments on the Louisville convention and Goebelsm:

"The disgraceful proceedings of the Democratic State convention at Louisville causes the blush of shame to mantle the cheek of every honest and true Democrat. One man is primarily responsible for such a state of things and his name is Bill Goebel. However, Capt. W. J. Stone, by his unholy alliance with the Kenton boss, made it possible for Goebel to work his nefarious schemes and to throttle the will of Kentucky Democrats.

"Regularly elected and duly accredited Hardin delegates to the Democratic State convention were unseated upon the slightest pretext, or upon no pretext at all, and their seats given to the Goebel Stone combination. It was a steal pure and simple."

EVERY friend of honest elections and of the election of honest officials should read Hon. W. C. Owens' letter on Goebelsm in another column.
Mr. Owens is a Democrat of unquestioned integrity and was chairman of the Democratic National Convention in 1892 that nominated Grover Cleveland the third time for President and he succeeded W. C. P. Breckinridge in Congress from the seventh district in 1894.

The Goebel election law is such an unpardonable outrage upon self-government and its author such an unscrupulous politician that Democratic healers undertake no apology for either, but with a feeling of security born of a blind confidence in the triumph of a small coterie of political assassins over Kentucky manhood, frankly boast that it Goebel is not elected he will steal the office for which he stole nomination.

The Republican convention which convenes at Lexington next Wednesday will be the best attended and most enthusiastic Republican convention ever held in Kentucky. The control of the Democratic convention at Louisville by political pirates and assassins insures the election of the ticket nominated at the Lexington convention next week, and while the contest for the head of the ticket is practically settled, the rivalry for the remaining places on the ticket will make the convention both enthusiastic and interesting.

The Courier-Journal which has superceded the Dispatch as the organ of the Kentucky Goebel Democracy demonstrated its fitness to lead the silver Democracy by the following editorial comment Tuesday: "In our judgment, the sole effect of a realization of the dream of free silver, at the ratio of 16 to 1, would be to Mexican-ize our currency; to drive out gold altogether and to reduce the silver dollar to a fifty-cent basis; and, in the end, to so disarrange our system of circulation and exchange as to involve commercial bankruptcy and financial ruin."

MANY Democratic newspapers in the State are openly bolting the nomination of Goebel for Governor, and of those supporting him only three or four give any evidence of real interest in his candidacy. Most Democratic newspapers announce their purpose to support Goebel with an apology for bitter things said about him before the convention, and are supporting him on the theory of party "regularity." Even the Courier-Journal, whose double-column editorial announcing its allegiance to the ticket the day after the convention, has lapsed into ominous silence.

The Courier-Journal driven to desperation by its mad anxiety for a pretext upon which to support the Goebel oligarchy with a hope of regaining its lost prestige and revenue sinks to the filthiest depths of demagoguery by proclaiming that the "real issue" is between the Democratic party and the Louisville & Nashville railroad. No sensible man in Kentucky will credit the sincerity of the Courier-Journal in this silly and venal assault upon one of the greatest business interests of the State, especially since that paper has usually stood like a wall of brass between the great corporate interests of the State and the vicious demagogues who proposed their destruction as a bid for the votes of the ignorant and idolot. Milton H.
Smith, President of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company has written a letter to the Courier-Journal in which he announces the purpose of that company, if driven to the wall to obey the first law of nature "self-preservation."

The convention at Louisville was the greatest farce ever enacted in the State. Political trickery and the mighty machine effected the Goebel Stone combination. —Adairville Ban-

The convention in Louisville brought hopeful smiles to the faces them success in 1895, and no wonder they were pleased with the prospects of 1899. —Grayson Gazette.

The Democratic Convention supposed to have been called to nominate

No Democrat is bound by the action of the alleged State convention, nor will any man with the independence and manhood which knows no master be driven through fear of the party lash to support this adventurer in his course of rapine and plunder. — Glasgow News.

Goebel has lost all, save a fraudulent nomination from a rump convention, and his hour of triumph, so dearly bought, will be succeeded by an eternity of defeat with dishonor so emphatic that it will be to point in a moral to future politicians of the baser sort, who for our sakes we always have with us. —Post.

Goebel went into the convention the weakest man in the lot, and he emerges from it the weakest candidate that could have been chosen from the trio. Trickery and treachery were twin companions throughout the session of the convention, which will go down in history as the most disgraceful political meeting ever held in Kentucky. —Hazel Green Herald.

Goebel's convention at Louisville, last week, in its platform, adopted a resolution condemning trusts and combines, when at the same time it adopted this platform it was operating under the most infamous combination, entered into for the most sordid purpose, to rob Wat Hardin of a nomination he was justly entitled to under any and all considerations. — Mountain Echo.

Col. Ben Lee Hardin was asked by the Harrodsburg Democrat for his opinion of the Democratic convention in Louisville and made the following reply: "Want of space in your paper, paucity of language, entangled, though, clouded memory of events, fear of police despotism and believing myself in fragments, bodily, mentally and morally, prevent me from expressing myself."

"The Mercury, as has been its custom for thirty-odd years, places the Democratic ticket at the head of its columns, and shall give it the best support it can under the circumstances. In urging the Democrats of Nicholas to rally around the flag, boys, we know we are committing a sin against all decency and honor, yet our loyalty to the Democratic party impels us to submit to the edicts of the convention, even when we know that fraud, lying and treachery were used lavishly to accomplish the end reached at Louisville last week. — Carlisle Mercury.

By the most damnable methods ever resorted to by any ring of any State, the gang of scoundrels of whom Goebel is the acknowledged leader has gained control of the party machinery and placed the Kenton boss at the head of the State ticket. Less than 10 per cent of the Democrats of the State indicated a preference for Goebel in the instructed vote of the delegates to the State convention, and yet by theft, trickery and fraud, and the most disgraceful scenes ever witnessed in this or any other State, this disparity is placed at the head of the ticket as the nominee for Governor of Kentucky and Democrats are asked to support him.

Stone's Letter.

"We met and Goebel stated that he had informed Judge Redwine that the latter was to be the Permanent Chairman of the convention. He disliked for him to be disappointed. He declared that if I would agree that the temporary organization should become permanent that he would agree that every vote of the city of Louisville and all of his vote in the convention should be cast for me, and thus make me the nominee of the convention.

"He said he had votes enough to make either Gen. Hardin or myself the nominee; that he preferred to make me the nominee. He declared that he would not fail to give me the votes. I informed my friends of this agreement and pledge.

"On Saturday, when Gen. Hardin withdrew his name, my friends demanded that Goebel keep his pledge to me. Some of my friends and some of his own friends went to him and demanded that he keep his agreement made Friday. Goebel came across the stage to where I was seated, and asked me if that I was nominated and elected, I would allow him to name two persons to fill places that I would have the power to fill. I told him I would.

"Goebel asked me if I would agree to put the pledge in writing. I told him that it was not necessary, as I always kept my word, and would do it in that instance. He asked me to wait until he could consult with his friends. I said: 'No; keep your pledge to me now, and give me the votes that you promised me and thus make me the nominee.' He said:
'I'll do it. Wait until I can walk over to the other side of the stage, and I'll be back immediately.' He left me and never returned.

WILLIAM J. STONE."

The Grandest Treasure.

One of the fondest, happiest anticipations of a mother's heart is that by her husband's care, her nest will be a safe and careful economy on both sides. The part they shall be able to lay by a little store of money which the baby when it is grown to manhood or womanhood shall have as its own private possession.

But every wife who expects to become a mother may provide a far more valuable treasure for her little one's future than can ever be contained in any savings bank if she will take the proper care of her own health and physical condition during the time when the baby is expected. And if every husband would feed it his bounden duty to see that all possible means are adopted to carry his wife safely through this critical time, he will help to bequeath to his offspring that health and natural vigor which is the grandest fortune a father can bestow.

During the past year I found myself pregnant and in rapidly failing health. I was suffering from indigestion, nervousness, and general debility. I began to improve immediately when I began to use Dr. Pierce's Sarsaparilla. My health became excellent, and I could do my own work as well as ever. I walked and rode all I could, and enjoyed it. I had a short, easy confinement and have a healthy baby boy."

"Favorite Prescription" is the only proprietary medicine in the world invented by an educated physician and scientific specialist for the one specific purpose of restoring health and vigor to the distinctly feminine organism. It is a prompt relief and permanent cure for every form of female complaint or weakness.

No remedy relieves constipation so quickly and effectually as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

No less renowned than war," said Milton, and now, in the Spring, is the time to get a peaceful victory over the impurities which have been accumulating in the blood during Winter's hearty eating. The banner of peace is borne aloft by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

It brings rest and comfort to the weary body racked by pains of all sorts and kinds. Its beneficial effects prove it to be the great specific to be relied upon for victory. Hood's never disappoints.

was given for that purpose by Mr. Presley Whitaker is his last will and testament. It was not to be used until the Baptists of Morgantown owned a church of their own. This they having accomplished before the death of the aged gentleman, his friends have prevailed on him to have the lecture course given before his death. Accordingly Dr. Coleman has been employed and will deliver two lectures per day at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. until the contract has been fulfilled. Dr. Coleman's great ability and profound knowledge of the subjects which he proposes to handle insure wonderful success to the enterprise.

In the cause of M. B. Downey motion to remove Spurgeon Maddox as guardian of Leona Suthard, in county court here Tuesday, the motion to remove was dismissed. M. B. Downey is the grandfather of the ward and brought the suit to carry out the dying request of the child's mother, Mrs. Bradford Suthard. A few hours before Mrs. Suthard died she solemnly requested of those about her bedside to see that her little girl was given to her sister, Mrs. Sanford Brown, and the good woman passed into the unbroken solitude of death eternal sleep trusting in the laudable reverence of the living for the will of the dead that her baby girl would fall into the hands of one whose life blood and its own flowed from a common fountain. And when the child, through some strange, steady, stony statue passed into the hands of strangers its grandfather came and asked the court to confirm his daughters dying will. We will not criticize the court who doubtless did what he thought was right, nor the good family with which the little one lives, but we cannot close our ears to the feeble echo of those dying words, which mellowed by maternal love, is waited slyly back from the farther strand of the storm-lashed river of death.

Smith-Maddox.

Mr. A. M. Smith and Miss Mattie Maddox were quietly united in matrimony at the home of the bride's father, Rev. D. J. K. Maddox, of near Rockport, Sunday evening, July 2. Mr. Smith is the energetic young foreman of the McHenry Manufacturing and Repair Shop. He spent several months in school here, afterwards taught school until about two years ago when he entered the course in Civil Engineering in the State University at Lexington and about seven months ago quit his school work to accept the position which he now holds. Miss Maddox is a popular, charming and winsome lady, whose friends are numbered by the circle of her acquaintance. Mr. Smith is to be congratulated on winning the hand of such a noble lady. May the flowers of prosperity bloom along their pathway and the white winged birds of peace chant sweet carols along the stream of life is the wish in which THE REPUBLICAN joins their many friends.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Enthusiastic Republicans met in the Court House in this Place Last Monday.

Pursuant to call of the Republican Executive Committee, the Republicans of Ohio county in mass convention assembled in Hartford, Ky., July 3d, 1899. Chairman Jno. P. Morton in a brief speech stated the object of the meeting, whereupon Capt. J. G. Keown was elected chairman and Fon Rogers and D. F. Gibbs Secretary and Assistant Secretary respectively.

On motion of E. P. Neal the chair appointed the following Committee on Resolutions: E. P. Neal, John H. Thomas, N. Barras, J. H. Davis, Wm. Hamilton, S. L. Stevens and A. S. Bennett.

While the Committee on Resolutions were preparing their report to the convention, stirring addresses were delivered by Messrs. C. M. Barnett, R. C. Jarnagin, J. S. R. Wedding and W. Fred Long.

The Committee on Resolutions made the following report which was adopted:

Resolved, By the Republicans of Ohio county in Mass convention assembled:

1. That we approve the call by our County Executive Committee for this Mass convention on this date to select and send delegates to the State convention to be held in the city of Lexington, Ky., on the 12th day of July, 1899, as called by the Republican State Central Committee to nominate a Republican ticket for State offices to be voted for and elected at the ensuing November election which call we also approve.

2. We endorse and reaffirm our allegiance to the principles of the Republican party as enunciated in the platform adopted by the last National Republican convention.

3. We congratulate all the people upon the return of prosperity, which always accompanies National Republican ascendancy, with every department of the Federal government under Republican control once more with work, wealth and wages for all.

4. We approve of the policy of expansion so auspiciously begun by President Jefferson and continued by his successors, including President McKinley; thereby extending the blessings of free government among men and advancing this country from a feeble nationality to a great continental power of unrivaled growth and grandeur. We endorse the freedom of Cuba from Spain by force of arms by the present administration in the interest of liberty, after its efforts to do so peaceably had failed, to accomplish which we note with pleasure that all sections, all parties and races contributed, obliterating the lingering heartburnings of the great civil war and burying the last embers of sectional strife. We cherish and enjoy a substantial and grateful remembrance of the officers and men of our army who so successfully carried our country's flag on what was once Monarchical and foreign land; but what thanks to their skill and valor is now free American soil.

5. We especially approve and commend the wise, able and patriotic administration of State affairs by His Excellency, Wm. O. Bradley, whose record as one of Kentucky's chief magistrates is equalled by few and excelled by none of his predecessors in wisdom and Statesmanship in all our history as a State. We fully endorse the official conduct of all other Republican State officials.

6. We recognize and appreciate the efficient and invaluable services of our friend, W. S. Taylor, of the adjoining county of Butler, in the office of Attorney General; his aid to us in this county for many years when struggling against the then triumphant Democracy, and believing in the expediency and propriety of his candidacy for Governor, the delegates from this county are hereby instructed to cast the twenty-four votes of Ohio county in said State convention at Lexington solid and as a unit for the Honorable W. S. Taylor for Governor.

7. Having full faith and confidence in the Republicanism, ability and industry of Hon. M. L. Heavrin, of this county, and knowing him to be a suitable and available candidate for the office of Attorney General, the delegates from this county to said State convention are hereby instructed to cast the twenty-four votes of Ohio county in said convention for M. L. Heavrin and to use all honorable means within their power to secure his nomination for the office of Attorney General.

8. We denounce and condemn the act of the last Legislature, known as "The Goebel Election Law," as a masterpiece of despotism, centralization and tyranny, never petitioned for or demanded by any portion of the public and no necessity existing for its enactment. It subverts and violates the time honored, non-partisan doctrine of local self-government; puts it within the power of the vulgar political pirates from Owensboro, Covington and Louisville, headed by their present notorious nominee for Governor to defy and destroy the safe

FRIDAY, JULY 7.

STORY ABOUT DEWEY.

He Bluffs a Mexican Garrison With a Couple of old Howitzers.

Lieut. F. Winslow, U. S. N., retired, a cousin of the famous commander of the Kearsarge, tells a new story about Admiral George Dewey.

"In May, 1875, Admiral Dewey was commander of the old Narragansett," said Lieut. Winslow, "and he was detailed to surveying the Gulf of California and the shores of the coast of the peninsula. It was not long after the Virginian affair at Santiago, and the feeling toward Mexicans and Cubans was none too cordial. The Narragansett reached La Paz, near the southern end of the peninsula, and we no sooner got ashore than we heard that an American mining engineer and some Englishmen who owned the mine were prisoners in their mining shanties, forty miles back of La Paz, in the mountains. The American had resented an insult, a quarrel followed, and the American killed two Mexicans. The friends of the latter swore they'd kill the Yankees and the Englishmen, too, and the latter were soon obliged to barricade themselves. This siege had been on for several days when we dropped anchor.

"As soon as Commander Dewey heard of it he was very much interested. The next day he sent a messenger to the Mexican Colonel in La Paz, who had a garrison of 600 soldiers there, asking him what he was going to do to give the American a trial before he was shot.

"Oh, he got into the trouble—let him get out," said the Mexican. "Commander Dewey didn't like this reply, and the more he thought about it the angrier he got. The next forenoon he sent a note to the Mexican Colonel telling him that an American citizen's life was in danger, and that the man was entitled to a fair trial. He told the Colonel that he would allow him just twenty-four hours to rescue the American and protect the Englishmen. If at the end of that time relief was not on its way to the little mining party he would bombard La Paz and burn it.

"When we heard what Dewey had done we were all frightened. "Does he mean it?" we asked one another.

"As for myself, I was soon satisfied that he meant every word of it. I was in command of the guns. We had only two old howitzers on the Narragansett, the larger guns having been left temporarily at the Mare Island Navy Yard.

"Get the howitzers ready for tomorrow morning and inspect all the small arms and ammunition," said Dewey to me. Then he called the men to quarters and estimated that of the crew of about 120 we could land 90 able, armed men as a storming force. We drilled the men all that afternoon and far into the night. That night, on Commander Dewey's order, we steamed to a point commanding the principal streets of La Paz and trained the howitzers on the town. By next morning we were all ready to begin a second war against Mexico.

"At daybreak a Mexican corporal came on board with a message from his Colonel saying that the Narragansett's commander's request would be complied with. Early that morning we watched 300 armed Mexican soldiers start for the camp, and we kept the old howitzers trained on La Paz till the soldiers returned with the American engineer. When Dewey reported to Washington on the matter he minimized the importance of it, and it was passed over as a mere incident. Lieut. Harris and Wright were on the Narragansett then, and Harris, at least, was with the fleet at Manila. It is somewhat singular that at that time, when we were expecting a declaration of war against Spain.

Robbed the Grave.

A starting incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts., guaranteed, at J. H. Williams' Drug Store.

IS IT RIGHT

For an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

(Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N. C.)

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this medicine in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy were kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

A Grave Question.

The Democrats of Kentucky are confronted with the very grave question as to whether they shall, by supporting the ticket nominated by the recent convention at Music Hall, condone the treachery, force and fraud by which that convention was permanently organized and its work completed. From the beginning of its history the Democratic party has stood for honesty in elections and clean politics. The rule of the majority is the fundamental principle of Democracy, and there can be no majority rule in public affairs when the party is subjected to the domination of one man, when the rights of Democrats are outraged, when regularly accredited delegates chosen by a majority in accordance with the party regulations are kicked out of a convention and Democrats robbed of their rights to representation in a Democratic convention. The recent convention, when it was permanently organized as a Goebel machine, was very largely the work of force and fraud. The votes that made Goebel and Haldeman masters were stolen, these stolen votes were traded to candidates for minor offices to secure other votes for the boss.—Louisville Dispatch.

Alligators Ate His Babies Before His Eyes.

The two children of Paul R. Naegle were devoured by alligators under the eyes of their helpless parents, near San Antonio, Texas, according to a story in the New York Journal.

Naegle and his family encamped on the bank of a bayou or lagoon running out from the shore of Espantos lake, in Dimitt county.

This lake, though far inland, is alive with alligators. At certain times of the day they cover the banks so thickly that one can hardly see the mud. Their horrible hissing fills the air, and the odor of musk which arises from them is so strong that one can smell it three miles.

Naegle had been warned not to camp near the lake, but he did not understand the danger and ignored the warning.

During the night he was aroused by the restlessness of his horses, who were straining at the ropes in such a way that they threatened at every moment to break loose. He went out to see what was the matter, and, thinking some wild animal might be worrying

A Baltimore boy drank a bottle of cough medicine in a gulp and died within an hour.

A Colorado woman fell through a skylight on a job printing press and was killed by the glass.

While cursing his daughter for marrying against his wishes, a Texas man was stricken with death.

One of his plow horses gave a Pennsylvania farmer such a vicious kick that he died almost instantly.

In trying on her brother's clothes, a Modona woman pulled the necktie too tight and was strangled.

Having fallen and hurt her knee, an English girl used a postage stamp as a plaster and blood-poisoned herself.
